Chamber May Get Slash In Budget

Council Planning Cut, Not Increase, In Chamber Funds

Budget requests for 1960-61 by the Palm Springs Police and Fire departments today appeared assured of City Council ap proval - but the Chamber of Commerce may not fare so well.

The council, minus only the services of Councilman George Beebe, Jr., launched an "agonizing reappraisal" of the 1960-61 fiscal budget for the three groups

THE FIRST TWO departments studied - police and fire - found the council attempting to equalize the needs more than cut the departmental budgets.

The council tentatively approv ed a $25 a month uniform allow-ance for police officers, which was not included in City Manager couldn't find anything to cut in the prosposed budget, and went on to discuss the fire department.

THE COUNCIL discussed the possibility of giving the fire department a uniform allowance, but decided against it when Chief Bill Leonesio said "that unless the allowance was enough ($25.30) he would rather have the additional man he requested. The council tentatively allowed the department two new men.

Councilman Harry Paisley, an ex-president of the chamber, then attempted to "sell" the council on more funds, explaining the work which the chamber does and the job that must be done to sell Palm Springs is a tourist center. "We have to compete with cities that spend hundreds of thousands of dollars every year," said Paisley.

But the balance of the council stood firmly against an increase to the city's advertising and pulcicity bureau, with only Ted Mc-Kinney not indicating his opinion.
